An exchange classifies those Democrats who do not propose to vote for Bate as Assistant Republicans.

It is announced that nine out of ten of the German newspapers of the country support Cleveland.

Cleveland and Hendricks Clubs are being formed all over the Union. Why not have one in Franklin county?

It is thought that the corn crop of the United States this year will be the largest of any crop for ten years previous.

Grover Cleveland is a member of the Presbyterian Church, and Thomas A. Hendricks is a member of the Episcopal Church.

The prohibitionists have a Presidential ticket in the field, and it is thought at least 50,000 Democrats and as many Republicans will vote it.

Sixty-four counties in Texas did not vote at the last Presidential election, but most of them have since organized and will be heard from this year.

The Texas fever has broken out among cattle at St. Louis, Topeka, Chicago, and other points in that section of country, and hundreds are dying.

The temperance question is going to cut a figure in politics. Already it is being used in the canvass for county offices in a number of counties, including our county.

The wheat crop this year in the United States promises to be the largest ever harvested in the history of the country. The latest estimates indicate a yield of 533,188,000 bushels against 424,900,000 for the year previous.

Jno. J. Littleton has retired from the editorship of the Chattanooga Democrat, and is a candidate for Congress in the Third District. He is running against the regular Democratic nominee and of course will get a good many Republican votes.

It is claimed that Samuel J. Tilden and Daniel S. Dickinson are the only two men who ever declined the nomination for President of the United States. Dickinson declined the nomination at Baltimore in 1852.

The Cleveland and Hendricks and Bate Club, of Rutherford county, had a big meeting in Murfreesboro the other day and elected as President our beloved friend, Maj. Jesse W. Sparks. It gladdens us to see appreciation shown to one who is so capable and noble as Jesse Sparks.

We have received a beautiful picture of the Southern Exposition, which opens at Louisville, Ky., Aug. 16th, and continues until October 25th. The view is of the main building, which is one of the largest Exposition buildings ever erected. It covers thirteen acres of ground, and will be lighted throughout by five thousand electric lights.

Col. E. W. Cole has purchased the Whiteside interest on Lookout mountain near Chattanooga. The tract embraces between 400 and 500 acres. Col. Cole intends to build a railroad from Chattanooga up the mountain, build a magnificent hotel, endow a university, and make other wonderful improvements—all at a cost of about half a million.

The Memphis Scimitar says: When Blaine entered Congress, he paid taxes on twelve hundred dollars' worth of property. He got a salary of five thousand dollars a year; he lived in luxurious style, and in ten years became a millionaire. Blaine is evidently a thrifty fellow. He beats the Italian who built his brick block from the profits of a peanut stand.

Cleveland and Hendricks have both been officially notified of their nomination, and have accepted.

Hon. J. A. Frothingham, of Sumner county, has been elected Chairman of the Democratic State Executive Committee.

The Boston Advertiser has opposed every Democratic candidate for the Presidency for sixty years. It is now for Cleveland.

The Democratic State Convention of West Virginia nominated E. Wilson for Governor and adopted resolutions endorsing the national platform.

The Mississippi river, at Memphis, is rapidly rising, and the banks and several storage houses, elevators, etc., have tumbled into the water recently.

W. H. Bennett, of Connecticut, has been re-elected Chairman of the National Democratic Committee, and F. C. Priory, of Boston, has been elected Secretary.

The trial of Miss Vitz and White, charged with the murder of Friedman, in Nashville, ended Wednesday last with a verdict of acquittal for White and a discharge as to Marshvitz.

The New York Herald and World give names after name of prominent New York Republican bankers, merchants and citizens who announce their intention to vote for Cleveland and Hendricks.

A Macon, Ga., broker will associate with for bills of sale for negroes, paying for them dollar for dollar in Confederate money and bonds. It is not known for what purpose the broker wants them.

All the railroads, except one, recently assessed for taxes by the State Board of Assessors, have filed exceptions to the valuations placed upon their distributable property, and also on the manner of fixing the valuation.

"Brick" Pomeroy will soon commence, in the city of New York, the publication of the United States Democrat, a weekly illustrated political paper for the purpose of helping to elect Cleveland and Hendricks. Terms, for three months, or during the Presidential campaign, 50 cents. Address: Mark M. Pomeroy, 174 Broadway, New York city.

Some shallow-pated newspaper scribbler publishes that because the name of Blaine is so easy to be rhymed, therefore it injures his success as the nominee of the Republican party. And this is a fact that Blaine rhymes with words that bear upon his means of official position in order to amuse the wealth he has. He fails from Maine; his name is Blaine. Those rhyme with gain, stain, pain, pain, Cain, drain, slain, wane, and cultivated all by brain. There are few words that will rhyme with Washington, Adams, Jefferson, Madison, Jackson, B. H., Buchanan, or Cleveland—all of whom were Presidents except the last, and he is on his way.

Gen. Grant Reminded.

It appears to be true that Gen. Grant is losing his mind. His friends say so. The failure of his brain has ruined him mentally as well as financially. He repeats the same sentences all day, over and over. An old friend of his says he has heard Grant repeat, over and over, his denunciations of Ward (his banker), and then say: "He was smart and I trusted him." Grant had a brother who went crazy. He is half paralyzed and a wreck of what he was. It is a sad end to a great career. We hope it may not be true.

Mr. Chas. M. Hayes, business manager of the Nashville Daily World, visited our town last Friday, in the interest of his paper, and favored our office with a visit. The World is now publishing seven papers per week. The price is, by mail, postage paid: One month, 75c; three months, $2; six months, $4; twelve months, $8. The World has its own telegraph wires and operators, and is a bright, newsy, and progressive paper.

An item is going the rounds in the newspapers to the effect that ex-Gov. Warmoth, of Louisiana, and the Lords-lards of New York, have formed a syndicate to purchase Cuba for $100,000,000, to use as a sugar and tobacco plantation, the Rothschilds to guarantee the purchase money, which is to be paid $20,000,000 down, and the rest in installments of $5,000,000 a year.

Tennessee's Vote.

The total Presidential vote of Tennessee in 1880 was 241,827, divided as follows: Hancock, 123,191; Garfield, 107,577; Weaver, 5,916; scattering, 43 Hancock's plurality, 20,314; majority over all, 14,555.

The same year the total vote for Governor was 243,555, divided as follows: Hawkins (Republican), 102,909; Wright (State credit Democrat), 79,191; Wilson (Reputation Democrat), 57,424; Edwards (Greenbacker), 3,641. Hawkins' plurality, 23,778; Wright and Wilson's aggregate vote, 136,615, or 33,646 more than Hawkins received.

It is within every man's power to do some good in the world.

Sporadic cases of cholera are reported all over France.

What They Said.

Mr. Blaine is in every way unrelatable from a political standpoint.—George F. Curtis.

Mr. Blaine cannot be trusted. He is for Blaine against his country.—John Sherman.

Blaine has a great deal of magnetism about him, but as a candidate for President he would prove a failure.—John A. Logan.

The Midway letters have ruined Blaine forever.—Geo. E. Edwards.

Dana ruined me, but he has not a word against Blaine.—Schuyler Colfax.

The nomination of Blaine would prove ruinous to the party if not to the country.—Ingalls, of Kansas.

Blaine is vulnerable in many respects, yet he is a good fellow.—Garfield.

The nomination of Mr. Blaine for the Presidency would be a vital stab at the Republican party.—Hoar, of Massachusetts.

Of all men else, Blaine would be the worst nomination which could be made.—U. S. Grant.

Blaine is perhaps a patriot, but as we would say in "Edamoy," he has a poor way of showing it.—A. Lincoln.

The Republicans will never be guilty of nominating such a man as James G. Blaine.—Horace Maynard.

All this trouble about Blaine amounts to nothing. The Republicans are not silly.—A. H. Pettibone.

What do we want with Blaine when we have so much better timber?—All Taylor.

Mr. Blaine is not the man.—Murat Halstead.

Blaine is nothing, yet he is always struggling to keep himself before the people.—Seely Folger.

The Good, Old-Fashioned Folks.

"What I am longing after," said Brother Gardner, of the Line Kith Club, "what I am longing after is a sight of a good, old-fashioned man or woman—such as we could find in every house thirty years ago, but such as cannot be found now in a week's hunt. It makes me homesick when I realize that our old-fashioned men and women are no more. In the days gone by if I fell sick another old-fashioned man or woman would run in and visit me, and if I was laid up, they would sit by my bedside, and if I was in pain, they would rub my back, and if I was in trouble, they would talk to me, and if I was in need, they would give me. But now, when I am sick, I am left alone, and when I am in pain, I am left alone, and when I am in trouble, I am left alone, and when I am in need, I am left alone. It is a sad state of affairs, and it is a sad state of affairs that we are living in. We are living in a world of selfishness and of avarice, and we are living in a world of hypocrisy and of pretense. We are living in a world of lies and of deceit, and we are living in a world of sin and of iniquity. We are living in a world of darkness and of gloom, and we are living in a world of despair and of hopelessness. We are living in a world of sorrow and of pain, and we are living in a world of death and of destruction. We are living in a world of misery and of woe, and we are living in a world of hell and of damnation. We are living in a world of fire and of brimstone, and we are living in a world of wrath and of anger. We are living in a world of vengeance and of retribution, and we are living in a world of judgment and of condemnation. We are living in a world of punishment and of suffering, and we are living in a world of torment and of anguish. We are living in a world of agony and of pain, and we are living in a world of death and of destruction. We are living in a world of misery and of woe, and we are living in a world of hell and of damnation. We are living in a world of fire and of brimstone, and we are living in a world of wrath and of anger. We are living in a world of vengeance and of retribution, and we are living in a world of judgment and of condemnation. We are living in a world of punishment and of suffering, and we are living in a world of torment and of anguish. We are living in a world of agony and of pain, and we are living in a world of death and of destruction. We are living in a world of misery and of woe, and we are living in a world of hell and of damnation. We are living in a world of fire and of brimstone, and we are living in a world of wrath and of anger. We are living in a world of vengeance and of retribution, and we are living in a world of judgment and of condemnation. We are living in a world of punishment and of suffering, and we are living in a world of torment and of anguish. We are living in a world of agony and of pain, and we are living in a world of death and of destruction. We are living in a world of misery and of woe, and we are living in a world of hell and of damnation. We are living in a world of fire and of brimstone, and we are living in a world of wrath and of anger. We are living in a world of vengeance and of retribution, and we are living in a world of judgment and of condemnation. We are living in a world of punishment and of suffering, and we are living in a world of torment and of anguish. We are living in a world of agony and of pain, and we are living in a world of death and of destruction. We are living in a world of misery and of woe, and we are living in a world of hell and of damnation. We are living in a world of fire and of brimstone, and we are living in a world of wrath and of anger. We are living in a world of vengeance and of retribution, and we are living in a world of judgment and of condemnation. We are living in a world of punishment and of suffering, and we are living in a world of torment and of anguish. We are living in a world of agony and of pain, and we are living in a world of death and of destruction. We are living in a world of misery and of woe, and we are living in a world of hell and of damnation. We are living in a world of fire and of brimstone, and we are living in a world of wrath and of anger. We are living in a world of vengeance and of retribution, and we are living in a world of judgment and of condemnation. We are living in a world of punishment and of suffering, and we are living in a world of torment and of anguish. We are living in a world of agony and of pain, and we are living in a world of death and of destruction. We are living in a world of misery and of woe, and we are living in a world of hell and of damnation. We are living in a world of fire and of brimstone, and we are living in a world of wrath and of anger. We are living in a world of vengeance and of retribution, and we are living in a world of judgment and of condemnation. We are living in a world of punishment and of suffering, and we are living in a world of torment and of anguish. We are living in a world of agony and of pain, and we are living in a world of death and of destruction. We are living in a world of misery and of woe, and we are living in a world of hell and of damnation. We are living in a world of fire and of brimstone, and we are living in a world of wrath and of anger. We are living in a world of vengeance and of retribution, and we are living in a world of judgment and of condemnation.
